And, for the better preventing Frauds in the entering any of the Goods before mentioned, in order to obtain the Bounty thereon, be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That it shall and may be lawful for any proper Officer or Officers of the Customs, after the Entry, and at or after the landing of such Goods, to take Samples thereof, in such Manner, and in such Proportion, as he or they shall judge proper, to examine the same; and if, upon such Examination it shall appear, that in the whole Quantity so entered, there are to the Amount of Ten Pieces in an Hundred that do not, in all Respects, answer the Descriptions and Dimensions herein-before described, so as to be entitled to the Bounty herein-before granted; then, and in such Case, no Bounty shall be paid or allowed for any Part of the Hundred Pieces in which such deficient Ten Pieces shall be found; and if more than Twenty Pieces in an Hundred of the Quantity so entered shall be found, on such Examination, not to be entitled to the Bounty; then, besides the Loss of the said Bounty, the Importer shall also forfeit and lose the Sum of Fifty Pounds; to be prosecuted and recovered as herein-after mentioned.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That no Fee, Gratuity, or Reward, shall be demanded, taken, or received, by any Officer of his Majesty's Customs for examining, viewing, or delivering such Staves and Heading, with Respect to the Premium or Bounty allowed by this Act, or for the signing any of the Certificates in order to the receiving such Premium or Bounty, or for paying the same; and any such Officer demanding or taking such Fee or Reward, shall, for such Offence, forfeit his Office, and be for ever after incapable of executing any Office or Employment under his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if any such Staves and Heading of the Growth or Product of any of the said Colonies or Plantations shall be again exported from Great-Britain, then, and in every such Case, the Persons exporting the same shall, before the Entry thereof, pay unto the Collector of the Customs of the Port where the same shall be exported, or to the chief Officer of the Customs there, the full Sum, which is allowed as a Premium or Bounty by this Act on all such Staves and Heading as he intends to export.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if any Person, his, her, or their Agent or Agents, Assignee or Assigns, shall be found fraudulently to export or load on board any Ship, Vessel, or Boat, in order to be exported, such Staves and Heading, without paying such Premium or Bounty to the chief Officer or Collector of the Customs as aforesaid, such Person and Persons shall forfeit and lose all such Staves and Heading, and double the Value thereof.

And he is further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That the several Penalties and Forfeitures by this Act inflicted shall and may be for, prosecuted, determined, and recovered, by Bill, Plaint, or Information, in any of his Majesty's Courts of Record at Westminster, or the Court of Exchequer in Scotland, or any of the Courts of Admiralty in his Majesty's Colonies or Plantations in America respectively, where such Penalty or Forfeiture shall be incurred; wherein no Essoin, Protection, Wager of Law, or more than one Imparance shall be allowed.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That all Penalties and Forfeitures by this Act imposed, shall, if incurred in Great-Britain, be applied, One Moiety to the Use of his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, and the other Moiety to such Person or Persons as shall sue for the same; and all such Penalties and Forfeitures as shall be incurred in any of the said Colonies or Plantations, shall be applied, One-third Part thereof to the Use of his Majesty, his Heirs and Successors, One-third Part to the Use of the Governor of the Colony or Plantation where such Penalty and Forfeiture is incurred, and the remaining Third Part to such Person or Persons as shall sue for the same.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if any Action or Suit shall be commenced against any Person or Persons for any Thing done in Pursuance of this Act, every such Action or Suit, if in Great-Britain, shall be commenced within Six Calendar Months next after the Fact committed, and if in any of the said Colonies or Plantations, within eighteen Calendar Months next after the Fact committed, and not afterwards; and the Defendant or Defendants, in any such Action or Suit, may plead the General Issue, and give this Act and the special Matter in Evidence, at any Trial to be had thereupon, and that the same was done in Pursuance and by the Authority of this Act; And if it shall appear so to have been done, the Jury shall find for the Defendant or Defendants; and if the Plaintiff shall be nonsuited, or discontinue his Action after the Defendant or Defendants shall have appeared; or if Judgment shall be given upon any Verdict, or Demurrer, against the Plaintiff, the Defendant or Defendants shall and may recover treble Costs, and have the like Remedy for the same, as any Defendant or Defendants hath or have in other Cases by Law.

And be it further enacted by the Authority aforesaid, That if any Doubt or Dispute shall arise, whether the Staves and Heading, or any Part thereof so to be imported or exported as aforesaid, are of the Growth or Produce of any of the said Colonies or Plantations, or of any other Growth or Produce; or if any Action shall be brought by the Owner or Claimer of such Goods, against any Officer of the Customs, or any other Person, for any Thing done in Pursuance of this Act, and any Doubt or Question, shall thereupon arise concerning the Place of the Growth or Product of such Goods, the onus probandi shall lie on the Owner or Claimer of such Goods, or the Person claiming the Premium or Bounty, and not on the Person who seized or stopped the same, or against whom such Action shall be brought; any Law, Custom, or Usage, to the Contrary notwithstanding.

LONDON, MAY 7.

Extract of a Letter from an English Gentleman at Petersburg, to his Friend in London.

I AM pleased to find we shall not have occasion to draw the sword of war. I have lately heard of much of the mischief attending a most successful one, that it makes one shudder to think how lightly these matters are gone into, in cabinet councils, the result of which occasions perhaps the loss of a million of lives, and doubles the number left unhappy. At an average every one may be supposed to have either a parent, a wife, or child, who suffer in their loss. And this in a single season has been the case in Poland, many provinces of which are totally depopulated. In these places which have been the theatre of the Russian and Turkish war, including the unhappy Greeks, a friend of mine writes me from Naples, the loss very early in the campaign amounted to 100,000 souls; and that a contagious distemper and famine destroyed almost 8000 prisoners, who had been turned out of Bender. The carnage at the taking of the town, which the utmost efforts of the officers was not able to stop, lasted about twelve hours with the utmost fury, and it was full two days before it altogether subsided. General Baur, a brave and useful officer, and greatly beloved, in order to save a valuable life just about to be sacrificed, threw himself upon the body; but the Russian soldier stabbed him underneath, taking care however not to hurt his General. General Panin, a most humane man, as well as one of the most determined bravery, shone in both capacities during this obstinate siege. He was very unwilling to allow the Commander Baron Stein the post of honour in the assault, which, especially to a man of his superior courage, was almost certain death; but he would not be denied, and only requested, if he fell, that he might be buried in Charles the XIIth's redoubt, which was accordingly done; for just as he had climbed to the top of the wall, and was ready to enter the breach, he received a coup de sabre on the head, which, though it must have proved mortal, did not stop him, till he received a musket shot in the eye, and another in the body, which instantly dispatched him. Two brave grenadiers who would have died a thousand deaths rather than leave him, carried off the body through all the works, in spite of all the confusion and difficulty which you will easily imagine must have attended such an action. The hero himself was often at our house, and was one of the most amiable and gentle dispositions imaginable, and so extremely engaging that he was universally beloved, and now as universally regretted, and exceedingly so in our society. I could give you a detail of many horrid events that have happened last summer; particularly of 4500 Turks who all chose to drown themselves in a river, rather than to surrender themselves prisoners. Their numbers were not known till the dead bodies floated on the water, and caused such a stench that General Baur was obliged to remove his camp to a distance of six leagues. But this is too disagreeable a subject to dwell on. Happily we do not consider the fall of millions whom we do not see, so much as that of a single individual, who comes immediately under our observation. Princes, however, and their Ministers, should consider this subject, in the most enlarged point of view. This is actually the case in the Russian politics at this time, where expressions of pity for the calamities of war, are the universal language, from the mouth of her Imperial Majesty, and all ranks of people.

JUNE 8. The Letter from the Budziack and Edifan Tartars to the Empress of Russia, lately presented by the Deputies, among other matters, says as follows: "OUR Fathers and Ancestors, who were never in Subjection to any Foreign Power, passed their Days in Tranquillity, and at all Times followed their own Usages and Customs; but, for some Years past, the Ottoman Porte having, by various Stratagems and Menaces, forced our People to submit to the Yoke, we at Length lost our original Freedom. At this Period, when the Turks, setting no Bounds to their Ferocity and Avarice, undertook an unjust War against their Neighbours, we, by Orders received from the Porte, were constrained to Act hostily with them, by which Means we were, much against our Will, obliged to shed a Deluge of Innocent Blood, besides committing all the Horrors naturally attendant on War: But our Tyrants meeting with a Repulse, we have happily been enabled to throw off the Yoke, and beg Leave to throw ourselves under the Protection of your Imperial Majesty." Her Imperial Majesty received the Deputies graciously, ordered her Minister to confer with, and confirm to them their Request, and to assure them of her Favour.

From the PENNSYLVANIA GAZETTE, July 25.

The following LETTER, on the Method of preserving PEECH TREES from the Damage done them by the WORM, was communicated to the last Meeting of the American Philosophical Society, by a Gentleman of West-Jersey.

I HAVE inclosed a brief Account of my Observations on the Worm and Fly, so destructive to the Peach Trees. For several Years, my Peach Trees having been destroyed, as I apprehended, by these Insects, I determined, if possible, to find out their Time and Manner of breeding. I therefore in the Month of June, 1767, took one of these Worms out of a Peach Tree, and put it into a Phial, stopping it, so as to keep it without stirring, but this one died in a few Days—I continued putting them in for several Weeks; at length one of them spun itself up, after the Manner of a Silk-Worm; I then put in two more, which did in like Manner. They remained thus until the latter End of July, or Beginning of August, when they came out Flies, something resembling a Blue Wasp; this I concluded was the Time of their copulating, and laying their Eggs in the Trees, to prevent which, I tried sowing such Trees as were almost dying, their Leaves being turned yellow, the Fruit ripening, and falling off, at not a third Part of the usual Size. It was about the First of August when I tarred the Trees in the following Manner; I took raw Tar, and with a small Brush payed the Tree to about a Foot high from the Ground, and on the Ground about three Inches from the Tree all round, taking Care to leave no Spot uncovered in that Space. This Method I found answered the Purpose beyond Expectation; for the next Summer my Trees flourished, and grew luxuriantly; I have repeated the Experiment every Year since, and my Trees have flourished, grown, and produced Fruit as plentifully as if those Insects had never been in the Country.

WILLIAMSBURG, (Virginia) JULY 25. On Saturday last, the Business of the General Assembly being finished, his Honour the President gave his Assent to the Bill for the Relief of the Sufferers by the Loss of Tobacco damaged or burnt in several Warehouses, and to such other Bills and Resolves as were ready, and then closed the Session with the following SPEECH:

Gentlemen of the Council, Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House of Burgesses,

I AM now to return my Thanks for the Readiness with which you have entered upon the Business I recommended to you, and for your constant Attention and Application to it. I am persuaded that your Conduct on this Occasion will be highly approved by your Country in general, and that those who will be relieved by the Act that is passed for that Purpose, will always think of you with Honour and Gratitude.

Before I part with you, let me intreat the Favour of your Assistance, in your different Departments, to preserve the Peace, Order, and good Government, in your several Counties, which I have a Pleasure to observe have subsisted during my short Abode in you longer than to acquaint you, that I have procured this Assembly to the fourth Thursday in August, and accordingly, prorogued to that Time.

In the Course of the last Session of Assembly, the Honourable the House of Burgesses came to a Resolution, namine contradicente, that an elegant Statue of his late EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HONOURABLE NORBONNE BARN DE BOTETOURT, be erected in Marble, at the public Expence, with proper Inscriptions, expressing the grateful Sense the House entertains of his Lordship's prudent and wise Administration, and their great Solicitude to perpetuate, as far as they are able, the Remembrance of those many public and social Virtues which adorned his illustrious Character.

The Statue is to be immediately sent for to Great-Britain, under the Direction of the Honourable William Nelson, Thomas Nelson, and Peyton Randolph, Esquires; Robert Carter Nicholas, Lewis Burwell, and Dudley Digges, Esquires. And the Treasurer is directed to pay for the same out of the public Money in the Treasury.

AUGUST 1. Last Tuesday Part of the Household, Baggage, &c. of his Excellency the Right Honourable the Earl of Dunmore, came up to Burwell's Ferry in a Vessel from New-York, which had ten Days Passage. His Excellency was then about sailing for Albany, from whence he intended paying a Visit to Sir William Johnson at his Seat on the Mohawk River; and is expected in Philadelphia the first Week in September, where he will make but a short Stay, and then proceed, by Land, to take upon him the Government of this Dominion.

Since his Arrival he has had several Conferences with his Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and proposes returning to his own Country, by Way of Philadelphia, in a short Time.

IV. No Money expected but upon the periodical Delivery of each Volume in neat Calf Law Binding, Two Dollars.

V. This expensive Work, which will cost above Fifteen Hundred Pounds, can only be carried into Execution under the Patronage of the Gentlemen of the Law in America, and their extensive Connections in the Country, as well as the capital Cities and Towns on the Continent.

TO THE AMERICAN WORLD. "THE Inhabitants of this Continent have now an easy and advantageous Opportunity of effectually encouraging literary Manufactures in the British Colonies, at moderate Prices, calculated for this Meridian, the Establishment of which will absolutely and eventually produce mental Improvement, and commercial Expansion, with the additional Recommendation of positively saving Thousands of Pounds to and among the Inhabitants of the British Empire in America. Thus, the Importation of One Thousand Sets of Blackstone's Commentaries, manufactured in Europe, at Ten Pounds per Set, is sending very near Ten Thousand Pounds across the great Atlantic Ocean. Whereas, One Thousand Sets, manufactured in America, and sold at the small Price of Three Pounds per Set, is an actual saving of Seven Thousand Pounds to the Purchasers, and the identical Three Thousand Pounds which is laid out for our own Manufactures, is still retained in the Country, being distributed among Manufacturers and Traders, whose Residence upon the Continent, of Course causes the Money to circulate from Neighbour to Neighbour; and by this Circulation in America, there is a great Probability of its revolving to the very Hands from which it originally migrated."

"American Gentlemen or Ladies who, at this juncture, retain any Degrees of that ancient and noble, but now almost extinguished Affection, denominated Patriotism, and are now pleased to exemplify it by extending with Generosity and Alacrity their auspicious Patronage through the cheap Mode of reposing their Names and Residences (no Money expected until the Delivery of an Equivalent) with any Printer or Bookseller on the Continent, at intentional Purchasers of any of the literary Works now in Contemplation to be Re-printed by Subscription in America, will render an essential Service to the Community, by encouraging native Manufactures, and therefore deserve to be had in grateful Remembrance by their Country, by Posterity, and by their much obliged humble Servant, the Publisher."

ROBERT BELL.
